AUTUMN EXHIBITIONS
WHAT NOT TO MISS

TRETYAKOV GALLERY
TIME OF CHANGE. GRAPHICS OF THE 1860S. This exhibition is the fourth in a series from the Tretyakov Gallery’s collections focusing on 19th-century drawings. The 1860s were marked by significant changes in aesthetic perspectives, in part because of the influence of impressionism and the development of art collectives. It features about 200 works by artists including Vasily Perov, Ivan Kramskoi and Nikolai Nevrev.

NEW TRETYAKOV GALLERY
THE ROMANOVS. FAMILY CHRONICLES
To commemorate the 100th anniversary of the murder of Tsar Nicholas II and his family, the New Tretyakov is hosting a photo exhibition in conjunction with the Moscow International Photo Biennale. The collection features albums and photographs from the Romanov estate that have never been open to the public before.

WHEN Through Oct. 28

GONCHAROVA AND MALEVICH: IN THREE DIMENSIONS
This is an immersive, virtual-reality-enhanced exhibition that showcases and "recreates" works by Natalia Goncharova and Kazimir Malevich. Visitors are able to learn about the artists’ creative processes and take... part in them, as the virtual-reality technology allows visitors to create their own art works.

WHEN Through Dec. 30

ILYA AND EMILIA KABAKOV. NOT EVERYONE WILL BE TAKEN INTO THE FUTURE

This mixed-media exhibition comes to Moscow after touring the Tate Modern in London and the State Hermitage Museum in St. Petersburg. It features over 100 paintings, drawings, sculptures and large-scale installations centered around a pivotal project called “Not Everyone Will Be Taken Into the Future,” featuring a train receding into the distance as it leaves behind futuristic images. Ilya and Emilia Kabakov are widely regarded as Russia’s leading contemporary artists, known for their complex and collaborative installations.

WHEN Through Jan. 3

MIKHAIL LARIONOV

This comprehensive retrospective focuses on Mikhail Larionov (1881-1964), one of the founders of Russian avant-garde. Larionov was recognized for his primitive style and abstract art. This exhibition is divided into two sections: One is dedicated to the Russian influences on Larionov and features his most iconic paintings; and the other is dedicated to his French influences and his artwork for Sergei Diaghilev and the Ballets Russes.

GARAGE MUSEUM OF CONTEMPORARY ART

BAUHAUS IMAGINISTA. MOVING AWAY: THE INTERNATIONALIST ARCHITECT

“Moving Away: The Internationalist Architect” is the Moscow segment of the “bauhaus imaginista” project, an international collaboration tracking Bauhaus’s influence around the globe. This exhibition at Garage focuses on the relationships between Bauhaus students and their teachers in the Soviet Union, and it features works by students of architects and urban planners Hannes Meyer, Phillip Tolzinger, Konrad...
Pusche and Lotte Stam-Beese.

WHEN Through Nov. 30

THE FABRIC OF FACILITY

His international project presents “clothes in art,” with a different view than that of the fashion industry. It focuses on the production cycles of raw materials, textiles and their modes of transport around the world. It is a study and re-discovery of global trade and influence. Special attention is paid to the Russian (and Soviet) context, though the exhibition features over 40 international artists.

WHEN Through Jan. 27

MARCEL BROODTHAERS

Garage presents an exhibition of Belgian filmmaker and artist Marcus Broodthaers (1924-1976). He produced works that challenged and revolutionized how museums functioned. This exhibition features his early films and most famous installations, including “The Museum of Modern Art, Department of Eagles” and “Decors.” Broodthaers began his creative life as a poet, and his works accordingly explore the relationship between image and text.

WHEN Begins Sept. 29 and runs through Feb. 3

DAMIÁN ORTEGA, THE MODERN GARDEN

Garage commissioned this large-scale installation by Damián Ortega, a sculptor working in Mexico City. It comprises 30 sculptures constructed from commercial materials and logos as a study of the intersection between the corporate and artistic worlds, as well as the ability to recycle industrial materials into works of art.

TADASHI KAWAMATA: ON THE RIGHTS OF BIRDS / PARASITE PROJECT

The Pushkin Museum commissioned contemporary Japanese artist Tadashi Kawamata to create this innovative project. Kawamata collected materials while surveying the oldest sections of the Pushkin Museum’s main building. He then warped these materials into sculptures resembling nests, and the nests are displayed both in a special exhibition area and on the outer facade of the museum. WHEN Through Oct. 14

MASTERPIECES OF EDO PAINTINGS AND PRINTS

Art works rarely displayed outside of Japan have been brought to the Pushkin for a major survey of the Edo period (1603-1868). This era was marked by major political and artistic changes: When the Tokugawa clan came to power, cities rapidly industrialized and traditional crafts were revolutionized. This rare exhibition features works that have been designated as Japanese national treasures, and traditional crafts were revolutionized. The exhibition spans the years 1900-1930 and showcases materials from the Russian Avant-Garde, American Modernism, and Japanese Edo-period. WHEN Through Oct. 28

ANATOMY OF CUBISM

This exhibition examines Pablo Picasso’s early sketchbook for “Ladies of Avignon.” By focusing on the early planning stages of this work, visitors can gain an appreciation for the deeper layers of cubism. The exhibition also includes Paul Cezanne’s “Bathing,” several Egyptian and African sculptures, and paintings by Picasso from the Pushkin collection. WHEN From Sept. 25 through Jan. 13

BARONESS D’OETTINGEN’S PARIS NIGHTS

At the turn of the 20th century, Polish émigré cousins Hélène Miaczinska and Sergei Yastrebzov moved to Paris. She became Baroness d’Oettingen and he became Serge Ferat, and together they were leaders among the emerging avant-garde movement. The Pushkin has re-created the baroness’s salons, which entertained such luminaries as Picasso and Matisse. This exhibition encompasses the years 1910-1950 and showcases materials from the private collections of the two cousins. WHEN From Sept. 25 through Jan. 13

Autumn means the start of Moscow's cultural season. Here are some of the exciting premieres and new productions taking place on stages across Russia's capital.
THE BARBER OF SEVILLE

The Bolshoi does a new take on one of the world’s most beloved comic operas, Gioachino Rossini’s “The Barber of Seville.” Pier Giorgio Morandi conducts.

NUREYEV

A production by embattled director Kirill Serebrennikov, this ballet is about the legendary dancer and choreographer Rudolf Nureyev, spanning his life from the 1960s to the 1990s. The libretto, scenography and staging are by Serebrennikov; the music is by Ilya Demutsky; and the choreography is by Yury Posokhov. The new production has been surrounded by controversy due to postponements, Serebrennikov’s arrest and the ballet’s subject matter.

STANISLAVSKY AND NEMIROVICH-DANCHENKO THEATER

MACBETH

The Stanislavsky and Nemirovich-Danchenko Academic Music Theater premieres a new version of Giuseppe Verdi’s opera based on Shakespeare’s play. The stage director is Kama Ginkas, and it’s his first opera in Russia. Felix Korobov is the music director and conductor. While many productions place classical texts in present-day times, Ginkas moves Shakespeare’s tale into prehistoric times.

NOVAYA OPERA

THE GINGERBREAD HOUSE, OR HÄNSEL UND GRETEL

One of the world’s best operas for children premieres this fall at the Novaya Opera. Engelbert Humperdinck’s “Hänsel und Gretel” premiered in the Weimar court theater in 1893 and was conducted by Richard Strauss. The libretto, based on the Grimm brothers’ fairytale, was written by Humperdinck’s sister Adelheid Wette. In Russia, this fairytale opera is known as "The Gingerbread House or Hänsel und Gretel." Stage director Yekaterina Odegova calls her production an all-family show, with bright costumes and sets, as well as interactive and playful scenes.

THE GOGOL CENTER

LITTLE TRAGEDIES
The Gogol Center’s Kirill Serebrennikov is still under house arrest, but his recent production, Little Tragedies, is back on the stage. Based on four short dramas in verse written by Alexander Pushkin, "Little Tragedies" stays close to the words of the classic, but updates and sometimes revolutionizes the meanings. This production features music by Husky, one of Russia’s most popular rappers.

THE LAKE
This new drama was written especially for the Gogol Center by Mikhail Durnenkov and is directed by Sergei Vinogradov. A trip to the lake by a group of friends turns into a discussion and study of midlife crises and insecurities.

SIBIR SIBIR

A transplant to Moscow from Novosibirsk, SibirSibir specializes in Siberian cuisine both traditional and contemporary. To build the menu, the restaurant delved into the culinary archives and the depths of the Siberian taiga, discovering hundred-year-old methods of cooking that had been forgotten. The ingredients are just as unusual, even sending Russians to their smartphones to Google muksun, capercaillie, and agaric. You’ll enjoy salted fish, Siberian dumplings and pinecone jams. Don’t miss the wide selection of infused vodkas.

Mixing pre-revolutionary aesthetics with a hint of steampunk, this restaurant will make you feel like you’ve stepped back one hundred years in time. In fact, it mimics some of Moscow’s great restaurants from the turn of the century — in style as well as in its menu. Here you can dine like Tolstoy’s heroes on caviar and blini, beef stroganoff, and borsch, as well as a number of creative meat and fish dishes, all inspired by classic Russian recipes.

HAGGIS
Take Russian and British cooking traditions, mix them together, put them in a typical British pub, place it in the center of Moscow, and you get Haggis — a cutting-edge gastropub whose dishes combine familiar flavors in unique ways to make something entirely new. Serving everything from Scotch pies with wild deer to chicken liver pate with jellied cider, the pub is a love letter to the two cultures. Add to that its inexhaustible drinks menu, featuring craft beer from seven countries, and there’s no better place to spend an evening.

PROLIV
Proliv has become a hip magnet for Moscow’s intelligentsia. With its inviting menu and atmosphere, the restaurant’s other strong attraction is an installation by the Russian artist and architect Alexander Brodsky. It resembles an open-air bar on a seashore. There’s a small table where visitors can have a drink, while looking around and listening to the sound of the sea and seagulls. The restaurant’s dining-room interior can be best defined as “shabby chic,” with a decor reminiscent of a pre-revolutionary St. Petersburg apartment. Proliv’s menu blends well with its comfortable atmosphere, with traditional Russian cuisine given inventive twists and a modern flair.

VINOTEKA ABRAU-DURSO
Abrau-Durso Wine House is the leading Russian producer of sparkling and still wines, and Vinoteka Abrau-Durso provides a rare format for a Moscow venue, one in which the leading role is given to sparkling wines, with the accompanying food specially designed to highlight the tastes of the wines. The restaurant is situated in the historic GUM, one of Moscow’s most prestigious shopping malls. In this place, the histories of two legendary brands merge. The wine list offers a full selection of sparkling wines, still wines, cocktails based on wine and sparkling wine, and Russian wines from Vedernikov Winery and Usadba Dvinnomorskoye. The bar also serves exquisite European and Russian cuisine, including Pacific crab canapés, Russian sturgeon, ceviche, baked starlet, caviar, oysters, mussels, bruschetta and snails — as well as a tempting dessert menu and other tasty treats. Moreover, Vinoteka Abrau-Durso offers lectures and themed master-classes. Upon request, the staff gives private wine tastings.

SOUP-CAFÉ
If you’ve already had your fill of the classic borshch and shchi, Soup-café is the place to go. A cornucopia of flavors, the restaurant aims to collect every recipe under the sun — and it’s at 127 and counting. Visitors can let their worries drain away as they sip kharcho or Boston cheddar and enjoy Soup-café’s cozy atmosphere. And if they want to experiment at home, the restaurant’s got them covered: From Creole gumbo to the millennial favorite, avocado soup, Soup-café’s website boasts a recipe for every taste.
PHO
Located in Danilovsky market, one of the trendiest food spots in Moscow, Pho is a gem within the city’s developing international food scene. Faithfully following Vietnamese culinary traditions, the restaurant offers soups, fresh mangos and, of course, their namesake pho — a rich Vietnamese soup filled with herbs, rice noodles and meat for those who want it. Add the pepper if you dare, and be sure to come in hungry — the serving size is generous enough for two. And other tempting eats beckon from all over the market.

KORCHMA TARAS BULBA
As you enter the tavern — or korchma, as they call it in Ukrainian — you find yourself enveloped in the warmth and hospitality of an old Ukrainian kitchen. Taras Bulba has it all: bright fabrics with traditional motifs, folk art, a soundtrack of Ukrainian tunes and, most importantly, an extensive menu chock-full of beloved Ukrainian dishes, from smalets and draniki to vareniki and pampushki. Soups, naturally, are in pride of place as the core of every meal, and Taras Bulba is one of the best places to try real Ukrainian solyanka or sorrel borsch.

BRISKET BBQ

This place is heaven and even the most discerning Texan would agree. A joint venture by innovative chefs Fyodor Tardatyan and Maxim Livsi along with Arkady Novikov, Moscow’s best known restaurateur, Brisket BBQ brings the cooking culture of Texas into the heart of Russia’s capital. Inspired by Tardatyan’s visits to the Lone Star State, where... he got a chance to discover all the secrets of the trade firsthand, the restaurant is a Texan style barbecue. The meat is prepared in a traditional smoker at low temperatures and takes several hours to cook, giving it that unmistakable smoky flavor. Offering an overwhelming array of dishes, from its namesake brisket — a cut of beef or veal from the breast or lower chest — to pulled pork or smoked quarter of duck, Brisket BBQ has something new for each visitor. Once you’ve come in from the bustling streets of Moscow and settled in a booth, the restaurant’s tiled walls and simple modern interior give the impression that you’re actually in the U.S. And even Texan tourists, skeptically entering the restaurant, ready to catch every mistake, end the meal with a glass of moonshine and feeling like they never left home.

Moscow’s edgy bar Ptitsa-Sinitsa has long attracted the city’s young and artsy crowd with its quirky vibe and eclectic array of artworks, statuettes, vintage bric-a-brac and — last but not least — the stellar food and alcohol. Gather your friends, settle down on the mismatched chairs and chat with the friendly bartenders as they pour you some killer cherry cider or a mango I.P.A.

RUSSIAN PUB

The concept of the gastropub — a place where the kitchen complements the bar — is embodied in every particular by the Russian Pub, from its tasteful dishes, to the wood-based interior, to the atmospheric background music. The pub doesn’t neglect English traditions, but adapts them to Russian culture, filling a traditional English pie with rich Stroganoff meat and adding a layer of salo, the cured pork fat staple, to everyone’s favorite burgers. Visitors can marvel at the variety of excellent beer options from all the best Russian breweries, or try one of the pub’s well-balanced cocktails, inspired by Russian recipes of old.

1516

It doesn’t get much more craft than an on-site brewery, and at 1516 their collection of fifty-some bottled beers from seven different countries is supplemented by stout and ale of the establishment’s own making. Take a tour of the brewery to find out more about the history and technology of beer-making, or simply stop by the bar and try one of 1516’s creations: Tropical Session Ale, Imperial Porter and German-style Doppelbok, you’ll have a hard time settling on just one.

RULE TAPROOM

Every one of Rule Taproom’s 27 eye-catching taps is handmade and uniquely decorated, and that says everything you need to know about the bar’s attitude to its craft. Always first on the scene when a new ale or beer
RASSIAN PUBS ARE FINDING THEIR OWN VOICES AND UNIQUE STYLES.

Rule Taproom

Comes to town, Rule Taproom is meticulously selective and ends up serving only the very best — and that goes for both Russian and international labels. From the warming Imperial Oatmeal Stout (aptly titled the “Beer Geek Breakfast”) to tangy Pumpkin and Yam Beer, the Taproom’s diverse collection holds new surprises every time you visit.

One More Pub

Capturing the warmth and good cheer of a British neighborhood pub, One More Pub lives up to its name as the embodiment of quintessential British drinking customs — albeit with a Moscow twist. With its unassuming homey interior and wide comfy couches, it’s the perfect place to chill out with a pint after a long day or watch a match with your friends. Do try the homemade sausages — they pair wonderfully with the pub’s Russian Konix Crazy Moose A.P.A or the mysterious Adnam’s Ghostship.

Beer & Brut

If you’re struggling to choose between beer and wine, Beer & Brut has got the answer. Both, and plenty of them. At this elegant manor-house restaurant in the heart of Moscow, visitors can begin their day with a late noon-to-6 p.m. breakfast of cottage cheese in white chocolate with cherry marmalade and a glass of Prosecco, stay for a lunch of crab burgers and Speyside Oak Aged Blond Ale, and come back again for dinner — perhaps a dozen oysters and a Pinot Grigio Corvesso.

Butyla, Kruzhka i Kotyol

When you love beer, there’s nothing like seeing it brewed before your own eyes. Butyla, Kruzhka i Kotyol, with its open brew nights and countless craft labels lining the shelves, has brought together a true community of beer enthusiasts looking for new flavors and a chance to geek out about their favorite drink. Settle down to try a Brut I.P.A. or a Hasta Manana, Amigos!, come to a beer tasting or even get some craft to go for 25 percent off the price. Whether you just want a good drink or an in with the Moscow craft scene, Butyla’s the place to be.

Ciderella

Cider fans can’t leave Moscow without popping by Ciderella, a friendly two-story pub whose life revolves around the classic apple beverage. With near-infinite variety, this place offers everything from on-tap Scottish Belhaven and Irish Magners to the Russian fruity Kelvish and Spanish Barkaitzegi Corenak.

Vse Tvoi Druzya

Created by rappers from the Russian band ILWT, Vse Tvoi Druzya — which translates to All Your Friends — has drawn a loyal following among the intellectuals, oddballs and hipsters of Moscow. The quirky decor and no-reservation policy mirror the pub’s informal vibe: Everyone there’s your friend, so come by and don’t stand on ceremony. With 18 taps of unusual craft beers and ciders, celebrity DJs and a 6 a.m. closing time, Vse Tvoi Druzya has everything you need for a wild night out.

Varka

With its down-to-earth spacious interior and simple wooden tables, Varka doesn’t let anything distract from the main event: the impressive food and drinks menus. There are summery fresh lemonades for those who don’t drink, and everything from lemon and ginger Alaska cider to Noir coconut session milk stout for those who do. You can chase your drink with one of the pub’s huge original burgers, listen to some quality music and enjoy Varka’s lively atmosphere.

BERLIN BAR

This bar was founded by German expat and DJ Chris Helmbrecht. The interior is the creation of award-winning Berlin designer Thilo Ferdinand Reich, known for his work at bars Saint Jean and The Coven. The menu includes Berlin specials like currywurst and other German favorites — meatballs with potato salad and herring rolls.

DENIS SIMACHEV SHOP & BAR

Founded by designer Denis Simachev in the 2000s, this club quickly became a traditional hangout for Moscow’s fashionable sets. The kitschy interior features mirrors, chandeliers and washbasins in the middle of the dance floor. The music is consistently good and so are the cocktails. Simachev also offers some delicious bar snacks. It’s crowded on the weekends, so dress smart to pass face control.

THE HOTTEST BARS AND CLUBS
GAZGOLDER
Gazgolder is located in a recently renovated historical gasholder tank at the former Arma factory, next to the Kursky train station. The club and restaurant belongs to Russia’s top rapper, Basta. There are plenty of rap and hip-hop concerts, as well as techno parties that sometimes go on for three nights in a row.

5 Nizhny Susalny Pereulok, Bldg. 6. Metro Kurskaya. gazgolderclub.ru

KETCH UP
Ketch Up is an outpost of a popular St. Petersburg burger chain on weekdays, but it turns into a bar with dancing on weekends. Try any of the 13 burger varieties and combine it with cocktails like the Penicillin or New York Sour. You’ll find listings for upcoming parties on their Facebook page.

6/3 Ulitsa Kuznetsky Most, Bldg. 3. Metro Kuznetsky Most. facebook.com/ketchupmoscow

MODEL T
Model T is a bit of a dive and underground bar, but it is also a music lover’s dream with great live performances. It offers everything from death metal to experimental folk to avant-garde jazz.

8 1st Yamskaya Ulitsa. Metro Dmitrovskaya, Dostoevskaya. facebook.com/modelt.musicbar

POWERHOUSE
This bar/club located in a 19th century mansion is mostly famous for its funk and hip-hop nights, as well as live indie and jazz-band performances. The food is good and there’s a whisky-tasting bar for connoisseurs. Another draw is its enormous courtyard, which sometimes hosts early evening parties.

7/4 Goncharnaya Ulitsa. Metro Taganskaya. facebook.com/powerhousemoscow

PROPAGANDA
It seems that Propaganda — or “propka” as cool Muscovites call it affectionately — has been around forever. It first opened its doors in the 1990s and is still packed every weekend. Go there during the afternoon when the kitchen is still open — the food is quite decent. The most popular and crowded parties are the traditional DJ Sanchez’ Thursdays and gay Sundays.

7 Bolshoi Zlatoustinsky Pereulok. Metro Lubyanka. propagandamoscow.com

STRELKA BAR
Dance parties, concerts, lectures, movies, Strelka is the place to be. You’re bound to bump into an editor of an edgy publication sharing a drink with a bunch of clean-cut Moscow hipsters, while expats dance to a Woodkid set. The food is worth trying, but you’ll probably enjoy it more when there are no DJs or huge crowds. The view of the Moscow River and the biggest church in Moscow is spectacular, and you’ll enjoy it even more sitting on the open terrace in the summertime.

14 Bersenevskaya Naberezhnaya, Bldg. 5. Metro Polyanka, Kropotkinskaya. strelka.com

NOOR ELECTRO
One of Moscow’s most popular bars, Noor Electro is located in the same building as the avant-garde Electrotheatre. The bar was redecorated, expanded and renamed Electro Noor a couple of years ago in honor of the theater next door. The cocktails are legendary, and there’s always a party on the weekend. If the autumn weather permits, there’s a great courtyard, where there are live performances from time to time.

TIME OUT ROOFTOP BAR
This 12th floor bar boasts views from two sides — one over Tverskaya and Bretnskaya streets, and the other towards the Satire Theater and the Garden Ring. Its extensive cocktail list is divided into “times” — from breakfast time to sundown time, you can enjoy a refreshing (or reviving) cocktail while looking out over one of the best views of Moscow. Open from midday every day, Time Out Rooftop Bar catches the sunshine and the atmosphere of the city, and on the weekend, the space lights up with music acts and dancing through the night.

THE KERALI CENTER OF AYURVEDA AND YOGA

Another popular form of medicine in Moscow is Ayurveda, the ancient system of health care from South Asia. The Kerali center doctors all studied in India, but have lived in Moscow for decades and adapted their methods to the city’s specific conditions. The center holds yoga classes, has a café and store, and can help you get through the worst of the pre-winter blahs.

BANYAS

There’s a good reason Russians and other northern nations invented banyas, saunas and steam baths: When it’s cold outside, you need some powerful heat to warm your bones. There is nothing quite so invigorating and at the same time relaxing as a day at the banya (bath house). Sit and steam, jump into a cold pool, steam again, let a friend beat you with some branches, jump back into the pool … rinse and repeat. Finish with a massage and then some hot, sweet herbal tea. Or beer. Your skin, lungs, and outlook on life will thank you. There are many options for public or private banyas in the city. Among our favorites are the more traditional ones, Krasnopresnenkiy and the most famous and traditional of all, Sanduny.

MEDSI
Moscow has many excellent clinics and, should you need them, hospitals with modern, international-standard care. The largest and one of the best healthcare providers is the Medsi group, with several clinics around the city and the topnotch Botkinskaya hospital for more serious treatments. If you need an English-speaking doctor, the clinic at 26 Prospekt Mira, Bldg. 6 (entrance on Grokholsky Pereulok) can serve you.

THAI PATTARA CENTER
Russians fell in love with Thailand and Thailand has returned the favor. The city now has hundreds of Thai spas. Anyone who has spent too much time bent over a computer will tell you of the wonders of a good Thai massage, or better yet — a series of them over a couple of weeks. Keep yourself in shape, in good spirits, with all your meridians clear and flowing at your local Thai spa. Our favorite Thai Pattara Spa has a shop for Thai food and cosmetic products and a great home-cooking restaurant for after-massage renewal. And they speak English.

MOSCOW HOMEOPATHIC CENTER
In Russia, homeopathic medicine has been developed along with allopathic (mainstream) medicine for centuries. There are special homeopathic clinics and pharmacies, and it is not uncommon for a doctor to prescribe homeopathic treatments to compliment “Western” medicines. The Moscow Homeopathic Medical Center has been around since 1935 and offers treatment for a wide range of ailments and chronic problems. Most people find the process of treatment slow, but steady, using herbs and other substances that do not, in general, have side effects.
NARAN TIBETAN CLINICS

Since 1989 Muscovites have been using Tibetan medicine to treat chronic ailments and lingering coughs and discomfort after a serious illness. The doctors use a very wide variety of methods to strengthen the body’s ability to fight off and recover fully from an ailment, from acupuncture to massage and herbs. Got a cough you can’t shake? You might give it a try. The Naran center has several clinics across the city.

Four years ago, a young engineer, Airat Bagautdinov, decided to mesh his love of research and history with his professional interests. This meant leading a new kind of tour through Moscow. He founded a tour group called Moscow Through an Engineer’s Eyes.

“I was figuring out what was going to be the most interesting subject for me,” he says. “I have a degree in civil engineering. I told myself, why don’t you do the history of civil engineering and the history of structural engineering in Moscow?” He began offering tours of the constructivist landmark Narkomfin and other monuments of Russian avant-garde architecture and Soviet utopian buildings. He focuses on how the buildings were constructed, offering their history in the context of engineering. The organization now offers guided tours with special virtual reality glasses.

Russian Heritage Railways

Russian Heritage Railways regularly organizes tours of the industrial Elektrozavodskaya railway line, a series of abandoned tracks in northeast Moscow. The group spends a few hours walking along the tracks, admiring the beauty of the arching trees that form a tunnel over the tracks. They discuss the history of this line of industrial railway and what it meant to the life of the city. They look at nearby factories, some still functioning and some not. They take in the rich and intricate mix of natural and industrial beauty.

Its founder, Mikhail Konchits, was drawn to the old railway lines and lamented that they were not preserved for history. “I wanted to raise the interest of the people here and to save the tracks from being scrapped,” he says. He marveled at the railways and the stations from the late 19th century and early 20th century. “They keep their atmosphere from that era. There’s no interest in them because nobody knows about them.” But now he is a leader in a growing movement that is helping to change...
In its nearly two years of full operations, Russian Heritage Railways has enjoyed growing interest and participation. The scope of its excursions has broadened, though it keeps railways as a central focus. There are unusual tours of industrial Moscow on 40-year-old buses. You can visit Soviet cookie or perfume factories, for example. There are also longer trips that take several days. You can go to the Voronezh region to enjoy the nature along its rail lines and visit a business that makes Russia’s traditional felt boots. Or you can spend a few days visiting towns and villages in the Kostroma area that are undergoing unique revivals, such as Astashovo, Chukhloma, Soligalich and Galich. Or you can go about two hours north of Moscow and explore the region’s gorgeous wooden houses, the solitary belfry of Kalyazin, Kashin, Bezhetsk and an old winery in Vesyeegonsk.

ArchigEEK

ArchigEEK offers a variety of tours in and around Moscow by foot and bus and even bicycle. More traditional tours are available — the Kremlin, Red Square, the many metro stations — but it also offers more unusual ones highlighting Moscow’s avant-garde and art nouveau tours of Narkomfin, VDNKh, the Metropol Hotel and the Pertsova House, for example. One tour highlights the work of the legendary Russian engineer Vladimir Shukhov (1853-1939), whose pioneering advances assisted the constructions of the Melnikov House, GUM and the Pushkin Museum of Fine Arts.

For more information, visit archigeek.ru

Stalinist architecture has significantly left its mark on the city. The era’s skyscrapers are internationally recognized symbols of Moscow, subsequent only to the Kremlin and St. Basil’s. The stories behind their constructions are incredible, and a tour of these skyscrapers is well worth the time. Tours that focus on Stalin-era buildings include looks at the Foreign Ministry building, Tverskaya Uliitsa, the Crimean Bridge, Gorky Park, the Vorobyovy Gory Panorama and Moscow State University.

Part of ArchigEEK’s mission is to develop a wider Russian and international appreciation for a more diverse scope of the city’s rich architectural heritage, as well as for that of the surrounding areas.
